About Palazzo Versace Macau

Palazzo Versace Macau is the first Palazzo Versace luxury hotel in Asia, located within the Grand Lisboa Palace Resort Macau - the monumental resort that emulates the luxury of Classicism through a contemporary lens and boundary-breaking approach to excellence that is fully reflective of the House of Versace itself.

Taking over one of the resort's towers, the hotel offers 271 rooms and suites across 19 floors, and includes two Italian restaurants, a wellness retreat, personal training studio, and indoor and outdoor swimming pools.

The hotel is evocative of an Italian Palazzo and Versace's Milanese heritage and signature luxury are immediately evident and fully immersive. Guests are welcomed at the expansive lobby by a magnificent representation of Versace's home in Milan - the Palazzo at Via Gesù that houses the Versace Atelier - crafted from over 80,000 hand-laid enamel mosaic tiles. The iconic Medusa head that symbolizes the House, the geometric Greca motif, and the opulent Barocco print are each rendered in alternate exquisite craft finishes throughout - whether across lush custom carpets, as decorative sculpted finishes, or incorporated into terrazzo floors and mosaics handcrafted by Fantini Mosaici, the fourth-generation Milanese artisans whose dedication to superior Italian craftsmanship is equally fundamental to the Versace House. The chrysanthemum flower and an ornate dragon are symbols rooted in local Chinese custom and interplay throughout the Italianate aesthetic in a design expression unique to Palazzo Versace Macau.

The Palazzo Versace is a celebration of the House of Versace's aesthetic and way of life. To enter Palazzo Versace is to step into the House's signature vibrant opulence - an energetic clash of rich Classical influences from Baroque and ancient Greek culture, with the powerful spirit of modernity, fearlessness, and passion. The hotels showcase the best of Versace craftsmanship, design and iconic style and invites guests to step into the extraordinary world of Versace.

Palazzo Versace is the world's first fashion-branded hotel, and today counts two destinations: Dubai in the United Arab Emirates and Macau, China.

Dining / The Flavors

The finest Italian gastronomy is presented at Don Alfonso 1890 and La Scala del Palazzo, the hotel's two dining areas. The MICHELIN-Star, family-owned Don Alfonso 1890 presents the true flavors of Southern Italy in a setting lavishly adorned in Venetian terrazzo, featuring private dining rooms, a cocktail area, and open kitchen. La Scala del Palazzo evokes the grand staircase of the Versace Palazzo at Via Gesù in Milan in a warm and playful décor. The world-renowned Italian coffee culture can be experienced, along with a discerning culinary offering catering to breakfast, lunch, dinner, and the Italian aperitivo hour. Classic dining service features Versace Meets Rosenthal porcelain in collection prints including the richly ornate Asian Dream motif featuring the Chinese dragon.

Don Alfonso 1890

Savor the artistry, heritage, and flavors of Italian gastronomy in an ultra-glamorous setting at Don Alfonso 1890. Showcasing the millenary culture and food traditions of the Sorrento Peninsula and the Amalfi Coast, the restaurant serves up innovative food and beverages with a vibrant and convivial ambience that celebrates Versace's unwavering dedication to luxurious living and sumptuous experiences.

As the new Macau outpost of the MICHELIN Starred, family-owned Don Alfonso 1890 in Sant'Agata sui Due Golfi, the restaurant pays homage to the cultures, values and traditions of its origins with workmanship, professionalism and creativity. Helmed by Head Chef Federico Pucci, Don Alfonso 1890's menu of elevated but authentic cuisine was created in collaboration with Chef Ernesto Iaccarino, son of the legendary Chef Alfonso Iaccarino, and includes classic recipes highlighting the best flavors of Southern Italy. As Don Alfonso 1890 is one of the pioneers of farm-to-table cuisine, every dish is meticulously crafted with fresh produce from Le Peracciole, the restaurant's own farm in Punta Campanella, such as products made with San Marzano tomatoes, Nocellara del Belice olives and Namonte lemons; as well as other premium seasonal ingredients and vegetables imported from the region. Here, diners can indulge themselves with a taste of Naples and an unparalleled Versace experience.

Design:

Don Alfonso 1890 represents the marriage of two of Italy’s most extraordinary treasures – the lush luxury of Versace and the rich, earthy heritage of Don Alfonso. The interior design reflects this duality with simple geometric blocks of grey marble and an elegant contemporary boiserie, softened by padded panels covered in iridescent rose gold fabric. Made of precious Italian marble in grey and pink tones, the restaurant’s decorated Venetian terrazzo floor of rosette and flower motifs is inspired by the one located in the historic Versace Villa on Lake Como and is handcrafted by Italian artisans following the same traditional techniques used in 18th-century Italian villas. The shape and frames of the windows inside the restaurant are reminiscent of those that can be seen in Macau’s historical buildings.

The combination of elegance and simplicity is echoed in Versace’s Asian Dream motif, which links the bespoke furniture with Rosenthal x Versace tableware through traditional Chinese features in shades of gold that evoke a sense of royalty and nobility. The carefully selected artworks on the wall are a mix of pictures from Versace’s Via Gesù Palace and photographs documenting the terrazzo floor’s creation and assembly in Milan, interspersed with the fashion house’s brightly colored signature Barocco pattern.

The exquisite menu is complemented by extraordinary service, elegance, and beauty, combined with a noble ambience - the perfect setting for engaging conversations and unforgettable get-togethers.

Design:

La Scala del Palazzo promises to delight with Versace elegance and Italian culinary excellence. The restaurant's interior mood, colors, and decoration takes inspiration from Michael Comte's portrait entitled Supermodels, which sees the Supermodels of the 1990s wearing Versace for Vogue Italy, September 1994. To complement Versace's exquisite design and Italian artistry, the restaurant includes bespoke furnishings as well as elegant green-and-pastel-rose La Scala del Palazzo tableware from the Rosenthal x Versace collection. La Scala del Palazzo evokes the grand staircase of the Versace Palazzo at Via Gesù in Milan. Images of the staircase adorn the walls and the Rosenthal x Versace dinnerware features patterns inspired by the staircase's handrail in green and pink tones.

The dining sets transform the tables into maps of imaginative journeys and are key in creating a table culture that has the courage to own worlds beyond time and space. Art

The exceptional decorative pieces on display throughout Palazzo Versace Macau highlight Versace's inspiration points within the wider arts and culture, and the House's dedication to expert Italian craftsmanship in everything it does. Versace is immediately recognized for its energetic clash of rich Classical influences from Baroque and ancient Greek culture, with the powerful spirit of modernity, fearlessness, and passion, and Palazzo Versace Macau shows this in abundance. From hand-crafted terrazzo flooring to mosaic tiles and signature motifs of the luxury House, every corner of the hotel tower exemplifies the brand's luxury and glamour, inviting guests to immerse themselves in the Versace lifestyle.

The iconic Medusa head that symbolizes the House, the geometric Greca motif, and the opulent Barocco print are each rendered in alternate exquisite craft finishes and interplay with symbols rooted in local Chinese custom - the chrysanthemum flower and an ornate dragon - in a design expression unique to Palazzo Versace Macau.

Italian Hand-laid Mosaic

Palazzo Versace Macau's mosaic tiles are made with Italian materials and cut by hand. The craftsmanship required to create and assemble them is so meticulous that a workman can only finish two or three feet of mosaic pattern each day. The glass mosaic in the swimming pool features between 30 and 35 different colors of glass tiles, all made in Murano, Venice. Assembling all of the near 3.5 million mosaic tiles used for the two swimming pools took roughly two months to complete. At the expansive hotel lobby, a magnificent representation of Versace's home in Milan - the Palazzo at Via Gesù that houses the Versace Atelier - is crafted from over 80,000 hand-laid enamel mosaic tiles. The full lobby area and lifts include over one million marble mosaic tiles. Mosaic craftsmanship extends to private room areas, with bathrooms decorated in mosaic artworks featuring amphoras and other signature elements of the Palazzo Versace aesthetic.

Located in the ground-floor corridor that connects the lobby to the Grand Lisboa Palace complex, a precious inlaid marble floor is crafted in an intricate puzzle of water-cut sections of Crema Delicata and Giallo Siena marbles that recreates Versace's Arabesque signature pattern.

Italian Terrazzo Flooring

With a heritage of craftsmanship that has remained unchanged for centuries, terrazzo flooring - the Venetian artistry of covering an entire floor as one single, joint-free surface - is famous for its beauty and durability. The white background terrazzo in Palazzo Versace Macau's suites contains six colors of marble, with more than 100,000 pieces of marble laid by hand into each guestroom's floor. The flooring is handcrafted by Fantini Mosaici, the fourth-generation Milanese artisans whose dedication to superior Italian craftsmanship is equally fundamental to the Versace House. The terrazzo flooring of the Don Alfonso 1890 restaurant is crafted from six different types of Italian marble in tones of grey and pink, including pale pink Candoglia marble that is also featured in Milan's Duomo cathedral.

Bohemian Crystal Chandeliers

Palazzo Versace Macau counts seven monumental custom-made decorative chandeliers, the most evident being located in the main lobby with a length of nearly 5 meters. Its shape recalls that of the Chinese chrysanthemum. Similar elements, in smaller sizes and round shape are placed in the VIP lobby and Spa reception area. All chandeliers are made with handblown twisted tubular crystal elements in gradient color from amber to clear glass. Chandeliers are crafted by artisans at the award-winning Lasvit Design group of artisans from the Czech Republic.

Versace artworks

Corridors on all guestroom floors are decorated with artwork made from framed Versace silk scarves. The nearly 100 scarves were finely selected from precious archival prints, which include the most iconic prints from the House's history such as the Barocco, La Coupe de Dieux, and Tresor de la Mer, as well as exclusive historical pieces inspired by Chinese culture, landscapes and iconography, such as the Marco Polo and Hong Kong Harbor prints.

Each of the 12 floors feature a custom colorway thematic for the artworks.

The third-floor corridors are adorned with artworks specially designed for Palazzo Versace hotels that combine Atelier Versace design sketches with iconic colors and pattern motifs from the hotel's interior design decoration.

All other framed artworks in the property were specially designed by Versace for the hotel and include artistic reworkings of interior photos taken at the Versace Palazzo at Via Gesù in Milan, and bespoke silk foulards at the hotel entrance made specifically for the hotel featuring the Palazzo Versace Macau logo and dragon print.

Versace Porcelain Amphoras

These custom-made porcelain vases feature Versace's Asian Dream pattern, part of an exclusive collection by Rosenthal x Versace. In the middle of the design, a legendary red dragon rises majestically full of might and glory, in front of a background of golden Baroque patterns and small medallions that represent the sun and the Versace Medusa. A red frame around the vessel ties the piece together in a glorious salute to Asia's legends and mythic traditions. In 2023, Versace and Rosenthal celebrate the 30th anniversary of the collaboration between two great partners who, in their respective fields, are among the most renowned brands in the world. The collaboration has resulted in a wide range of the finest porcelain collections, enhanced by the most famous and beautiful Versace motifs and prints.

Dimensions: 760mm (H)

Material: Fine porcelain and decorations with pure gold

Hand-painted trompe l'oeil

From the decorative frieze that runs around the perimeter of the main lobby, to the perspective drawings that optically extend the elevator lobbies, the hotel features several handmade trompe l'oeil paintings. The canvases were made entirely in Italy before being retouched during the on-site installation by the artist themselves in Macau.

Handmade trompe l'oeil is a signature element of Versace interior decoration: from hotels to boutiques and the iconic interiors of the Versace family houses.

The House of Versace

Palazzo Versace Macau is an expression of the Versace lifestyle and features many of the House's most immediately recognizable and enduring visual codes.

The Origin

The Versace family would say they were born in Magna Graecia - the term given to the Southern region of Italy by the Ancient Greeks. Whilst Gianni and Donatella grew up surrounded by the symbols of an extraordinary culture that championed the Arts, they also made these symbols utterly modern and covetable. The Versace's invented new rules and codes from ancient symbols and made them their own.

The Barocco

Originating in a 1991 runway collection, the Barocco print of Versace was designed as a vibrant celebration of creativity, freedom of expression, and magic. With origins in ancient Greek architecture and Baroque art, it rapidly became one of the most identifiable signatures of The House of Versace alongside the Medusa and the graphic framing Greek key pattern. The Versace Barocco has lived in many forms—from an iconic silk shirt to a beautiful ceramic plate, from famous scarves to headline grabbing dresses. It symbolizes the House's love of rebellious classicism, generosity, and opulence. Barocco is not just a print, it is a way of life and a symbol of today's beauty and luxury.

The Greek Key

A classic architectural framing device symbolizing infinity and unity, the "Greek Key" graphic has become the "fil rouge" of the House of Versace. First seen at Versace in 1988, the Greek Key, or "La Greca," frames the Medusa, borders prints, skims waistlines on underwear, and is studded onto leather. A symbol of continuity for the House, it connects the latest designs with those originally conceived by the House's founders across clothing and accessories. It is celebrated today on the "Greca Goddess" bag collection.

The Medusa

The most powerful and instantly recognizable symbol of Versace, Medusa in the hands of the Versace family became a symbol of elevated beauty, rebellion, and female empowerment. At Versace, the legend is that Gianni first saw the Medusa on a terrazzo floor of an ancient, ruined temple, and later found it embedded in stone in the courtyard of Via Gesù 12, the original Milan home of Versace. He found the gaze of the Medusa so compelling that he made it the symbol of the House, captivated by her mystery and her strength. She remains at the heart of Versace to this day, the powerful guardian of a global luxury community.

In 1994, the Medusa crashed culture on the head of a now infamous Versace Safety Pin, bringing her spirit of rebellion to life in luxury punk form. In 1995, the Medusa was developed into iconic hardware that has become the "Medusa '95" badge found now on all signature collections.
